Conversation between Eberhard Deisenhammer and Richard Godwin Austen:

Dear Richard,

Don't you remember that you and Uschi along with other MC members were designing our logo on a napkin when we were sitting at the 'Glacis Beisl' for our dinner?

Maybe there are more such anecdotes that you can remember and tell and write me about.

Sincerely, Eberhard

Dear Eberhard,

I did indeed receive your e-mail about material concerning the EFNS. I am very sorry that I did not respond earlier. I have looked for photographs without success; and I was turning over thoughts and memories of interesting events.

I believe that you were at the meeting in Paris with the ENS Officers to try to bring together the two organisations. A meeting was held in a small Hotel in St. Germain "Hotel Marroniers" and at the end Ian McDonald who was President of the ENS at that time, formally accepted an agreement to alternate the organisation of annual Meetings and collaborate in other ways. The agreement was torn up without discussion by the Secretary of the ENS!! And we all know how that act led to the EFNS having to remain independent and to have no collaboration with the ENS.

With all best wishes, Richard Godwin-Austen
